DTMF Dial Crack Free

DTMF Dial is a software application created to emit DTMF tones (including A, B, C and D) from the PC sound card. It has push button, keyboard, clipboard paste and command line interface - with programmable memory, last 16 number redial and tool tray operation. Tone lengths, gaps, pauses and prefix can be easily configured. By holding the microphone of a telephone handset to the speaker this makes for a very simple and easy auto-dialer. Enable DTMF Auto Dialer * Any DTMF button that is not pressed will not be played by DTMF Dialer * * If DTMF Dialer is started, after first DTMF is played, it will ring the last number you dialed by default. * * After each call, if the number was dialed, or * If the last number you dialed was stored, DTMF Dialer will automatically dial the stored number or dial the last number again. * * Playback speed can be adjusted in DTMF Dialer. * * By default, the last digit dialed is always 2nd last number dialed. * * To change this, simply change the value in the following screen. * * To change the default, select the other answer and press the OK button. * * If you do not want to use last number, it is a good idea to remove the DTMF Dialer from autostart list. * * DTMF Dialer can also be moved to the toolbar of the taskbar, for easy access. * * Press the "Tools" button to bring up the Task Bar, then drag and drop DTMF Dialer from the "All Programs" list to the Taskbar's toolbar. * * The standard option for the keyboard is to press the "0" key to start, "1" key to stop, "2" key to play back and "3" key to skip. * * If you are using a Microphone, you can also select your microphone by pressing the "1" key and selecting from the menu. * * Pressing "1" again, will enable your microphone for other application. * * Pressing "0" again will disable the Microphone. * * Pressing "R" to play redial will play the last number you dialed. * * Pressing "S" to skip will skip all numbers on
