Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a display apparatus and a display method. More particularly, the invention relates to a display apparatus in which a signal line driving circuit is formed on an insulating substrate, a display panel having TFTs (thin film transistors) formed on an insulating substrate, and a display method. 2. Description of the Related Art Examples of TFTs used in a display apparatus include the following. (1) An active-matrix liquid crystal display apparatus which uses, as a display panel, a liquid crystal panel that is composed of thin film transistors (TFTs) and pixel capacitors formed on a glass substrate. (2) A display apparatus that uses, as a display panel, an organic electroluminescent (EL) display panel. (3) A display apparatus that uses, as a display panel, an electro-chromic display (EC display) panel. (4) A display apparatus that uses, as a display panel, a light-emitting device (self-luminous display device) in which a current induced luminescence (CIL) method (an organic EL method) or a method based on spontaneous luminescence, an electroluminescence (EL) method, or the like is used. Each of the display panels described above includes a TFT that functions as a switching element. In each of the panels, a wiring line (signal line) for inputting a signal to the TFT is formed, and the wiring line intersects a power line for supplying power to the panel. The intersection of the wiring line and the power line generates a noise current, and the noise current is superimposed on a signal current supplied to the TFT through the wiring line. Thus, a signal to be input to the
